

Al Maniscalco Quartet

Quote Sheet

JazzReview.com (2004)

"With a varied musical interests, a rich appealing tone and fluid technique, Maniscalco possesses a heart as well...one that comes across in the music he plays, one that is reflected in the title of the CD. ...More In My Heart is a triumph of emotionalism over intellectualism"

Baltimore City Paper (2003)

"Maniscalco is one player and composer who just loves the subtlety of the slower cadences, where a carefully considered solo makes more out of less, and his own compositions and arrangements nicely open up space for his able sidemen"

Washington Post – Mike Joyce (2001)

"Maniscalco reprises 'I'll be Seeing You' in a robust fashion that evokes images of tenor titan Sonny Rollins..."

JazzReview.com (2001)

"...it is worth remembering the name should Al Maniscalco and his band come to play in your neighborhood.."

South China Morning Post (2000)

"Blowing through Hong Kong for one gig only will be Al Maniscalco, ace horn player and another Jazz Club 'find'. Maniscalco has paid his dues, but with his reputation growing, it looks like his ship has come in."

Music Monthly (1998)

"He has a group of musicians that are all on the same wave length musically and that's what gives the band a cohesive blend and tight sound....His group is definitely something to check out. They have a sophisticated sound that every jazz fan can relate to."

The Miami Herald (1992)

"Some 600 cassette tapes later, we have our winners in the Great South Florida Sound Search. Jazz: Al Maniscalco.."

The First Coast Entertainer (1991)

"Ah, the sweet, impeccably executed improvisational tenor saxophone excursions of Al Maniscalco was just what I needed..Al Maniscalco will move on to bigger venues."
